

Social Neuroscience in Rodents: Behavioral Phenotyping and Ultrasonic Vocalizations in Rodent Models of Neuropsychiatric Disorders

Wöhr M & Schwarting RKW

Philipps-University of Marburg | Behavioral Neuroscience

Invited Plenary Lectures

September 26 - 29th 2018

Dr. Özge Sungur

| Philipps-University of Marburg, Behavioral Neuroscience; Germany

Behavioral Phenotyping of Mouse Models for Autism Spectrum Disorder

Wednesday, September 26th, 15.00-16.00 h (s.t.)

Prof. Dr. Tobias Kalenscher

| Heinrich-Heine-University Düsseldorf, Experimental Psychology; Germany

Psychological and Neural Basis of Social Preferences in Rats

Wednesday, September 26th, 17.00-18.00 h (s.t.)

Prof. Dr. Sergio Pellis

| University of Lethbridge, Department of Neuroscience; Canada

Communication and Negotiating the Rules of Play Fighting: A Comparative Perspective

Thursday, September 27th, 18.00-19.00 h (s.t.)

Dr. Michael Lukas

| University of Regensburg, Behavioral and Molecular Neurobiology; Germany

Oxytocin and Vasopressin: Modulators of Rodent Social Behavior

Friday, September 28th, 17.00-18.00 h (s.t.)

Prof. Dr. Markus Heinrichs

| Albert-Ludwigs-University Freiburg, Biological and Personality Psychology; Germany

Social Neuropeptides in the Human Brain: Perspectives for Psychobiological Therapy

Friday, September 28th, 18.00-19.00 h (s.t.)

Prof. Dr. Valeria Gazzola & Prof. Dr. Christian Keysers

| Netherlands Institute for Neuroscience, Social Brain Laboratory; The Netherlands

Understanding Empathy: From Humans to Rodents in a Joint Keynote Lecture

Saturday, September 29th, 17.00-18.30 h (s.t.)

Location: Philipps-University of Marburg, Faculty of Psychology, Gutenbergstr. 18, 35037 Marburg, Dekanatssaal

CMBB
Center for Mind,
Brain, and
Behavior

Noldus
Information Technology